SCHOOL SET IN FULL DRESS

Lads Quick to Take Up Latest Fashions of Their Elders.

MANY AWAY FOR THE WINTER

College Boys and Girls Returning in Large Numbers to the Eastern Schools-Hollday Senson Surely Busy.

Social Calendar,

TUESDAY—Mrs. Frederick A. Nash, luncheon for Mrs. William A. Redick; Mrs. Morris Levy and Mrs. William Holzman, bridge luncheon at the Loyal hotel; University club, annual meeting and stoak dinner; Mrs. Wynn Mack Rainbolt and Mrs. Edward R. Lefferts, afternoon tea.

Wynn Mack Rainbolt and Mrs. Edward B. Lefferts, afternoon tea. WEDNESDAY—Wedding of Miss Rose Coffman to Mr. Jean Marie Guislain; wedding of Miss Susan Mary Fianagan to Dr. T. J. Dwyer at St. John's, followed by reception.

THURSDAY—Brandels theater parties by Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cowgill, and Mr. C. W. Hull. Swastika club meeting at the home of Mrs. D. W. Hensley.

Had the committee in charge of the Charity ball, when pondering over the question of full dress or no full dress at the ball put the matter before the high school social set for decision the ayes would have had it by a hig majority, according to indications in ovidence at the high school holiday dances. The full dress suit is coming into its own among the students and is on record for a permanent stay.

The first lads who dared to venture forth in dress suits this season made their debut at the Senior Prom a week age last Monday at Chambers.' This although considered the biggest function of the school year, has always hitherto been informal, but times have changed, according to those who pretend to know at the school and the old must go. It is true that for the first few dances at the senior, those of the elite, bold enough to don full dress, were eyed askance, but this feeling soon wore off and toward the latter part of the hop it will be attested to by all who observed the manner in which the young misses present gathered around the fortunate ones that they were the objects of envy

When the Ice was thus once broken, others followed in quick order and no high school hop of any nature is now "classy" without at least half the lads in full dress. Tuxedos are held good form by the set, but to be in exact accord with the dictates of up-to-the-minute fashion only the full dress is permissible. The younger set which formerly was engrossed with discussions of the various modes of dancing are now occupied with the weightier matters of whether gold or pearl study are the think and the youngsters of the under classes who up to a few short weeks ago were unable to distinguish a Norfolk from a sack sult are now arguing out the finer points of difference between morning and evening

Dress suits and even silk hats were notably popular at the following dancing parties given by the various high school societies last week, the Maltese club party at the Rome and the T. K. and Les Hiboux parties, each of which were at Chambers' scademy.

Holiday vacation is over and the young neople are leaving in large numbers for school and college. Rarely has there been so much social activity for all sets from the younger school children to the college and younger set and even the ot a few parents and grandparents are finding it convenient to return east with the young people and plan to spend some time in New York.
